ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The generosity and vision of Mrs. Ethel Farrington Smith of Hull, Massachusetts, has made this publication possible.

We gratefully acknowledge the assistance of many people who lent their special expertise in important areas. Mrs. Laura MacLean of the First Congregational Church, Rev. MaryBeth Ellis of the First Baptist Church, and Mary Ann Jewell of the Methodist-Episcopal Church, graciously helped with access to old records. William H. Teschek, Librarian at the Lane Memorial Library, shared his knowledge and transcriptions of the Hampton cemeteries. William N. Copeley, Librarian at the New Hampshire Historical Society Library, hunted out old manuscripts. Danny Kenney of the Hampton Cemetery Department showed us through the repair shed and granted access to the card index prepared by the late Roland W. Paige. Staff at the Tuck Museum researched church histories and made Bible and private records available.

Dean Crawford Smith valiantly stood in the middle of the road to get the proper angle for the frontispiece. Richard Stitt painstakingly indexed every name. Jane Fletcher Fiske grouped and arranged the index for final printing. John Fiske sized and printed the cemetery maps.

Our daughter Ruth literally learned to walk among the gravestones of her ancestors. Our son Lowell occupied himself mastering wildlife photography while we puzzled over hand-carved fieldstones.

The contributions of all these people are much appreciated.

INTRODUCTION TO VOLUME II

Volume 1 of the Hampton Vital Records contained all government-kept, or civil, vital records for the town to the end of the year 1900, whether they were town, county, census or court records. This second volume contains all non-governmental records for the same period. Here we include all extant church and ministerial vital records, cemetery records, and such privately-kept records as have come to light after a diligent search, a few of which have appeared elsewhere in print but are now gathered together in one place.

The richness of these records is self-evident. By comparing duplicate records of a particular event (especially deaths) made by the town, church, and private individuals, each of whom might report different details, quite a complete biographical picture often emerges of what would otherwise remain just a name on a piece of paper.

Here are chronicled the alarming deaths from the terrible throat distemper, or "throat-ail," which first appeared in Kingston, New Hampshire, in May 1735, and by that autumn found its way to Hampton. Raging from 1735 to 1736, and reappearing again in 1754, this plague, sometimes called "putrid sore throat," affected mainly children and young people, but also attacked adults. Entire families were obliterated. The ailment has never been satisfactorily identified, and disappeared as quickly as it came. The intemperate are roundly condemned, the professors' virtues extolled. Consumption and apoplexy claimed their victims.

All extant church vital records for Hampton churches before 1901 are included here. No records could be located for the Advent Church in Hampton, which was organized in 1877. Though some Hampton people had embraced the doctrine of William Miller as early as 1843 when he went through the country proclaiming the second coming of Christ, the numbers were not great in the town until 1871 when land was purchased and a church built on High Street. Formal organization of the group, often called "Come-Outers," followed in 1877. The church continued until the middle of the twentieth century, but the congregation waned and the church closed. Neither the regional nor the national archives of the General Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists has the records of this church or knows where they might be. Inquiries of people in town likely to remember members of the congregation produced negative results. Consequently, we assume that there were few if any records kept during the period of our interest, and those are now lost. The building survives, now known as Faith Community Church, supporting a small congregation.

The Hampton graveyards presented their own special challenge. Undoubtedly there are many family lots that have disappeared over the centuries. Just as certainly there are gravestones buried under the surface, waiting to be found. We uncovered about a dozen such stones, alerted to their presence by the lingering snow and ice, slower to thaw over rock than earth.

Private records also surface from time to time, in the hands of auctioneers, book dealers, in ancient attics and in old chests. We tapped all these sources in this work, but are certain that more such items will appear in the future.

Transcriptional Details

We have attempted to keep these transcriptions faithful in every respect to the original records. Several archaic features were editorially altered, however. We ignored "=" as well as long dashes, of which there were many, rendered the letter "ff" as "F", eliminated superfluous underlining, omitted horizontal lines indicating nasality and double nasal consonants (i.e., straight lines over the letters "a," "o," "m" or "n,"); and spelled out the ornate "P" used for per. Old Style double dates are expressed with a slash mark, such as 1691/2, although they are often given as fractions in the original record. Entries crossed or rubbed out are reproduced cleanly followed by (..... - crossed out). We frequently found just one parenthesis used, lacking a closing parenthesis, which we did not supply.

INTRODUCTION TO THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH RECORDS

The church established by the first settlers, under the pastorate of the colorful Rev. Stephen Bachiler, soon after their arrival from Newbury, was the Congregational church, still flourishing after all these years. During its nearly 360 years, the church has occupied six different meeting houses, the current structure dating from 1840.

The seventeenth-century saw a period of overlapping pastorates. Soon after Mr. Bachiler's arrival, Rev. Timothy Dalton was installed as Teacher of the church, to assist the aged Mr. Bachiler. When the latter was removed from office in 1641, Mr. Dalton continued in Hampton for twenty more years. In 1647, Rev. John Wheelwright came from Wells and served as pastor until 1656, when he was followed in that capacity by Rev. Seaborn Cotton. Cotton continued until 1686, being alone from Mr. Dalton's death in 1661. Following the close of Mr. Cotton's career, the mantle was taken up by his son and the terms of the ministers became more regular.

Hampton Falls parish was established as the second parish in Hampton in 1712, though Hampton Falls did not become a separate town until 1726. We did not include records from that church, leaving them for a future compilation of Hampton Falls vital records. Likewise, the records of North Hampton's church, established in 1738, four years before the town was created, have been left for a future book on that town.

The first challenge to the solidarity of the Congregational church came from the Society of Friends, or Quakers. The first evidence of any Hampton Quakers came at a Salisbury court on 14 April 1674 when thirteen Hampton people were fined. The first records of the Society of Friends in Hampton date from 1701, their first meeting having been established some two years earlier. Their first meeeting house was built in what is now Seabrook in 1701 and a second one erected in Amesbury in 1705, housing the appropriately named Hampton-Amesbury Monthly Meeting. These records should be included in a future volume of Seabrook vital records.

The second challenge to the Congregational church came in the form of the Presbyterian schism of 1792-1807, which came about from a disagreement over whether to call Rev. Nathaniel Thayer to be minister. Some questions arose as to whether the dissenters were truly Presbyterians on such short notice, or merely dissidents. More than half the town declared themselves Presbyterians, however, and Rev. William Pidgin was called to be minister, occupying the church building and forcing the Congregationalists to find new quarters. The latter sued for restoration of a portion of their property and the parsonage.

Both pastorates being vacant late in 1807, meetings were held to discuss re-unification, which occurred in 1808. No known records for this Presbyterian congregation exist, although earlier records kept by Rev. Samuel Perley while in Seabrook from 31 January 1765 to 1 October 1776, have been found and published (The New-England Historical and Genealogical Register 51[Oct. 1897]:460-466). Such records should also appear in a future volume of Seabrook vital records.

Readers will notice gaps in the surviving records, which in most cases cannot be explained. The earliest records that must have existed, being those of Mr. Bachiler, perhaps burned when his house burned about 1647 and he left the town. There are no traces of any records kept by Mr. Dalton or Mr. Wheelwright, who perhaps recorded them in their own personal diaries, or waistbooks, as did their successor, Rev. Seaborn Cotton, whose waistbook miraculously survived and its vital records reproduced here.

Eight volumes of the oldest Hampton Congregational church records were deposited years ago at the New Hampshire Historical Society library in Concord, but were returned to the church on 8 April 1965, where the compilers found them in a wooden bookcase twenty years later. Fortunately, the church, through the good auspices of Laura MacLean, permitted these precious records to be microfilmed by the New England Historic Genealogical Society to ensure their preservation.

Book 1 consists of 180 pages covering the years 1667-1733, and contains baptismal and marriage records and admissions to full communion. The book contains records kept by the following ministers:

1. Some fragmentary records of Rev. Seaborn Cotton as copied by John Cotton
3. Records of Rev. Nathaniel Gookin, 1710-1733

This book is small and nearly square in shape, with admission and baptismal records going from front to back, and marriage records presented from back to front after turning the book over and beginning at the other end. The baptisms and marriages collide, with the result that the last two pages of baptisms are upside down and in backward order at the end of the marriages.

The admission records are rich with biographical detail, giving names of husbands in the case of married women, and containing disciplinary proceedings, dismissals, lists of donors for the acquisition of church communion table vessels, and other business.

The first instance of a double forename in Hampton records is found here, being that of Reuben Gove Dearborn, baptized on 1 July 1722, beating out by 54 days or more, Jonathan Gove Cass, mentioned in the town records, who was born 23 August 1722 (see Hampton VR 1:25).

The first four pages of this book actually precede the title page, but we have placed them after it to avoid confusion. The page following the title page is blank and unnumbered, but the next page is page 9. No leaves seem to be missing from the book.

BOOK 2

Book 2 consists of 179 pages covering the years 1734-1766, and contains baptisms, marriages, deaths, admissions to full communion, church minutes, and dismissals. This book has been taken apart and rebound, page 11 follows page 12, and there is no page 13. Because of bleed-through on the paper, and different shades of ink, these records are difficult to read. Exacerbating these factors is the apparent scarcity of paper at the time, causing the ministers to crowd numerous entries onto a page, but not diminishing their fondness for great flourishes of the pen, creating almost illegible entanglements. This volume contains the rest of the records of Rev. Nathaniel Gookin, 1734, and those of Rev. Ward Cotton 1734-1766. The church minutes contain lists of members who contributed to various causes, and the usual disciplinary proceedings concerning back-sliding members. The admission and dismissal records show origins and intended destinations of various members. The numerous death records are particularly rich in biographical detail, causes of death, length of illness, and the like. The lists of church members often contain the notations, "Dead," "Removed," or show the names of parents (if young people are mentioned), or husband, if a married woman is named. These are, as well, lists of those who owned the Covenant, sometimes being baptized on the same date. We have included the latter as baptismal records, but have not considered merely "owning the covenant," as a vital record. A small superscript "a" indicates an adult baptism.

BOOK 3

Book 3 consists of 271 pages covering the years 1766-1829, and contains baptisms, marriages, deaths, church minutes, and admissions to full communion. This book is particularly full of vital records, the deaths especially, being rich in biographical detail and causes of death. The records of church business occasionally contain references to baptisms, and other biographical detail. Records of admission and dismissal often include names of previous residence or intended destination and sometimes a spouse's name, as well as statements regarding the transferee's character. Often news about other churches, installation of pastors at other parishes, and so on, are included. Of particular interest are the appointments and reports made by committees to visit and converse with wayward church members to get them to acknowledge their wrong-doings and bring them back into the church.

The rather chatty, detailed, and often graphic death records written here by Rev. Ebenezer Thayer often use the word "professor" to describe the deceased, which, of course, is not an occupation, but rather denotes one who had publicly professed his or her belief in salvation by Jesus Christ. We excuse Rev. Thayer for his moralizing tone since he was so willing to leave us with details we would not otherwise have.

Records of those who "owned the covenant" are not routinely included here unless accompanied by baptismal records. It will be seen that former residents of Hampton returned to have their children baptised in this church.

25. Joseph Palmer, professor, stable man, - 66.
His death was sudden & alarming - He had no physician till Monday morning, & died 2 O'clock P.M. I called to see him between 9 & 10 A.M. His face appeared so dark, that a stranger would not have tho't that he ever was white like other white men. It was so with his whole body. It seemed as tho' every drop of blood in his body was putrid, mortified. -
July 22. A child of Moses Leavitt Jun^{r}, very suddenly, disease uncertain - aged 3-
Sep^{r} 15. Col. John Dearborn died in Lynn Mss of a fall from a meeting house [73] He broke his back just below y^{e} shoulder blade, his breastbone cross ways, & six ribs, as was found by examination after death. 1834.

Octo^{r} 12 Joshua Shaw - - - aged - 84

31 Sarah Mason, daughter of Caleb - 21
She died in Boston of fever - Corps bro't & interred in our graveyard. Died in faith.

Nov. 21. Mr. Josiah Marston, supposed in a fit of apoplexy. He was abroat about his work as usual A.M. Dined as well as usual. Made no complaint. About 3 O'clock P.M. he went out after some wood, & there fell down, as is supposed dead! He was a remarkably robust, strong man; but died in a moment, as is supposed - - - aged 78^{y} 11 mo -

1835. January 7th Deacon John Lamprey, It appears by Chh records that he was baptized [92 crossed out] 93 years ago last April. He had been a professor of religion 68 years in Nov - past; & had been a Decon in the Chh more than 53 years. A good man. All who [78] knew him best speak of him as having been a remarkably kind neighbor & a man of much prayer. He was known to a great many as one of the most remarkable friends to minister's of the gospel.

He always seemed happy when in their company, & he often enjoyed this happiness, because he was often chosen as a delegate to councils. He was trained very much in arminian times, & under an Arminian ministry. Thirty years before his death, he could not endure sound, decided Calvinistic preaching; but between thirty & twenty years of his departure, his views underwent a very evident change. He entertained very humble views of himself as a miserable sinner, & relied altogether upon y^{e} merits of Christ for salvation. Two days before his death, he was told, that the Rev. Mr. Porter of Rye was much afflicted. He did reply im- [79] mediately & was asked, if he did not [re]member Mr. Porter. He replied instantly, yes, & I remember the text his father preached from - some one said, at the ordination of his son. He said yes - & that was more than fifty years ago. This is mentioned to show the soundness of his memory. He retained his mental faculties remarkably. Endeed there seemed to be but little failure of his mind about two days before his death. He was remarkable for his love of order in the Chh & in the town. He was firmly, unwaveringly fixed in his attachment to that religious order, established by the puritans of New England. In his death, the pastor of the Chh has lost a very firm & ardent friend. Indeed the Chh & town have lost a firm friend to their best interests. Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.

Janr^{y} 11 — A child of Simon Lamprey, late of this place 1

Feb^{y} 6. — Ann Marston, daughter of Cap. Oliver Marston She was sick but three days & died with a malignant sore throat, or what used to be called [80] the throat distemper. She was twenty one years of age. Her death was not only sudden but greatly afflictive in one sense to her friends because she was uncommonly lovely & dear to her friends. She was uncommonly discreet, very intelligent, & distinguished for advance in scienc knowledge & grace. She had however been a professor not one year but ever since that she has appeared to live for eternity, & we have no doubt has made a happy change of worlds.

March 19 — Elizabeth Toppan, aged 32, daughter of Edmund Esq^{r} - at Lancaster. Mss. She went there to make a visit about four months since - Recently taken ill with dropsy in brain & died. She was a young lady of highly respectable mental qualities & accomplishments - much respected in her circle of friends - was unitarian in senti-[81] ments, but said to have been peaceful in her death - So said by a unitarian Minister & friends. She was bro't to this town & her remains interred on Saturday 21 inst.

20. Mr. Daniel Weare, aged almost 78 - He was professor - useful man - death occasioned by bleeding internally. He has for years been troubled at times with a pain in his stomach, as he said. Once before bled.

April 5. Mary, daughter of Caleb Mason, of consumption, with submission, as we think to the will of God - aged 19.

May 6 Martha, wife of Nathan Godfrey, consump^{n} & dropsy of the chest - aged 47. She died 5 O'clock in the morning - Same day, 5 O'clock in the evening - Anna Tucke, paralysis aged 84.

June. 24 Moses Coffin was buried. When he died unknown - was found in Merrimac River. Very intemperate man. Aged - - 35.

June 27 - A child of Henry Mace - 5 months old.

July 7. Mrs Hannah wife of Baily Tenny, daughter of Nath^{l} Weare Sen & grandaughter of his Excellency Mesheck Weare, first governor of N. Hampshire. - 38 She was a professor, & rather genteelly educated woman.

Aug^{t} An infant of two weeks of Mr. Clement

26. Barbara, wife Newell Blake, consump^{n} 22 -

Sep^{r} 2 A child of Abraham Fogg's, about 6 months -

27 Rachel, wife of [Daniel crossed out] Thomas Lane 3^{d} - 20 She has been charming in hir disposition from her youth. But she was bro't to feel, as we think, very deeply the evil of sin - saw that she was obnoxious to divine justice, & was in great distress for some time. At length was relieved & rejoiced much in Christ - Died remarkably happy.

Nov. 4. Joshua Towle, Intemperance.

1835.

Nov. - 9 Ruth Shaw. Consumption. Aged 33
A Baptist professor. Considered pious -

Dec. 4. John Cotton, had been an active man, aged 45.
A smart man - but alas, Strong drink could kill him - did kill him !! His wife said he lamented the manner of his life. Many drinkers of ardent spirits confess, when it is too late.

18. Wid. Sarah Emery, wid of Willard, aged 73 -

She made a profession of religion a number of years since, but she very soon became dejected & has been so ever since. It is believed that she was thrown into this state by the injudicious & improper conversation of some ignorant sectarian bigots. But she died, it is tho't reconciled to God. She was a sober discreet woman for many years before her profession.

30. Dolly, daughter of Reuben Dow - 38

Deaths continued.

January 7. A child of Sam[l] Drake, daughter, 11

Febru[y] 1. An infant of Albert Godfrey -

3. Lydia, wife of Nehemiah Sanborn, a professor ofreligion, good sister. Her case was peculiar. At one time, she found it difficult [to] void urine - at another it run off spontaneously, & almost without her knowledge. After this, there was an entire suppression of the water. It was probably absorbed & went into circulation with the blood & other juices of the body, and she soon began to decline & in about two weeks she died - aged - 56

13. Mary, wife of Jonathan Godfrey - 74.
A stable, sound professor, uncommonly attached to the old puritanic doctrines & mode of worship. Woman of sound mind.

1836.

Feb[y] 29. John Marston aged - [blot] 31.
A notorious case of intemperance!!

March 4. Mr. James Lane aged 77

18. Polly Johnson, after 18 years of derangement. When well one of y[e] most discreet, sensible, sober females I ever knew. She was much esteemed by all who knew her. There was a time when she had a hope in Christ. - a time too when she attempted to take away her life - not long after she became melancholly - & then fell into a state of madness, as tho possessed with an infernal spirit. A few days before her death she seemed pleasant, & her countenance after death seemed changed - A wonderful dispensation. She was aged 54.

Sep^{r} 20 Allice Page, colored woman aged 27. Died in the night alone. Retired as usual. Had been unwell for most of the summer, but kept about & performed labor even the night of her death. She was found a corpse in the morning. Was an exemplary professor & had made, as we trust, considerable advance in a divine life.
Octo^{r} 24. Two infants, twins, of Mr. Will^{m} Brown
An illegitimate infant of a stranger, at the house of Thomas Leavitt -
Nov. 4. Mr. Paine Wingate Chase, 33 -
Mr. Chase was Preceptor in our Academy, eminent for his talents as a teacher & manager of youth. [139] The Institution has sustained a great loss, & a shock from which it will not soon recover. It seemed to the students as if all was lost, when he died. His death bereaves the Chh in this place of a valuable member. During a revival of late in the Academy, he had been very active; & indeed seemed like one doing his last work, tho' he probably had no tho't of dying at the time he was called. He discharged his duty as usual in the Academy; & tho' he complained some in the morning, he took his tea as usual, visited several of the neighbors, went home, little past nine in the evenying, attended family worship, read & prayed himself, retired to his study, & in about [140] an hour, was heard to make a noise - Woman of the house ran up, found him speechless on the floor - She inquired what was the matter - in a little time, perhaps a minute, he said, he could not tell - & almost in another breath, he was a corpse!! No one can tell the cause. It is supposed to have been some affection of the heart. But great & wonderful as the event my seem, it is as the Lord would have it. O that we may all be ready.

March 25. Rachal Blake

May 25. A child of Obed Hobbs, dysentery aged 3.

27. A child of Simeon Lane aged 6 years.

August 24. Woodbridge Sanborn the only son of Nehemiah Sanborn, aged not quite 15 years - a most afflictive & mysterious death! This youth was found on Sabbath 23rd hanging, in the chamber by the neck, suspended with a skein of yarn!! He was taken down & soon became extremely convulsed - did [147] not speak, nor give evidence that he was conscious of what was passing. In 10 or 12 hours he fell into an apoplexy, & expired on Monday about 6 O'clock A.M. What makes the case wonderful is, that this youth was unusually steady, & sensible, & disposed to do his duty. No cause can be assigned for the step, the fatal step, which he took. Taking in to view all circumstances, which I cannot here state, my opinion is, that he hung himself in his sleep; or that he had no design to put an end to his life. But we should not be anxious on this point, but leave it with other events in Divine providence, which are altogether inscrutable!

Dec. 23 Amos, son of Amos Knowles, privately. Given up by its Grandmother to Christ in baptism. The parents consented, that the grandmother should take the child, as to its religious education, under her care. The grandmother engaged, before a number of witnesses, that she would use her best endeavor to bring up the child, if it should live, in the nur[187]-ture & admonition of the Lord. The child is now apparently sick unto death, which is the reason for its being baptized in private.
24 Claudius Buchanan, son of Josiah Webster.

May. 1. Shubael Leavitt, aged seven years, son of Samuel Batchelder of N. Hampton, privately. Given up by his Grandmother Leavitt, wife of James Leavitt Esq^{r}. This child is not expected to live. He was kicked by a horse on the side of his head. His skull is broken in a number of places. Bones have been taken out. He remains without reason, & this is the third day since the accident. It will therefore be seen why he was baptized privately. He is under the care of his grandparents; & if he should live, is to be educated by them. Jany 1817 Child apparently well.

BOOK 4

Book 4, consisting of 41 pages, covering the years 1808-1852, is billed as a book of admission of members to the church, which it is. Nevertheless, there are many dates of death written in beside the members' names, normally in a different hand, or, at least, at a different time. Consequently, we have included these records. Many other names are followed simply by the word "Deceased," but because no date was stated, we have not included them. Other interesting items regarding dismissals to other churches, excommunications, and so on, are also found in this book, as are the names of churches from which new members came. The husbands of married women are customarily named, and other useful biographical details may be found.

BOOK 6

Book 6 consists of 384 pages of vital records and church minutes covering the years 1836-1902. We stopped transcribing vital records at the end of the year 1900. There are numerous blank pages between each type of record, so the total number of pages that have been used is far fewer than the total number of pages in the book.

As in Book 3, the term "professor" or "prof," is not an occupation, but rather denotes one who had publicly professed his or her belief in salvation by Jesus Christ.

INTRODUCTION TO THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH RECORDS

The First Baptist Society in Hampton was organized by a group of dissident members of the Congregational church, and they were incorporated in 1817 by an act of the legislature. A meeting house was built in 1834. A smaller building previously donated to the Society by a member, Simon Garland of North Hampton, for the holding of services proved to be inadequate as the congregation grew. The church is located on Winnacunnet Road, although it was originally situated closer to the road than it presently is.

Two old volumes kept in the pastor's office contain vital records, which begin with a retrospective list of baptisms dating back as early as 1803. Random annotations giving the date of death of some members complete the vital records prior to 1901. There are no marriage records.

Joseph Dow suggests that the reason the records for this church are so meager is because the ministers were transient preachers who probably paid little attention to creating records. An exception was the period 1819-1822, when some of the records presented here were probably created. From then until 1834, preaching was intermittent. After the new meeting house was built that year, the situation became more stable.

At one time these old volumes were kept on deposit at the New Hampshire Historical Society in Concord, but were returned to the church on 18 April 1967.

We gratefully acknowledge the assistance of the church pastor, Rev. MaryBeth Ellis, in granting access to these original records.

INTRODUCTION TO THE METHODIST-EPISCOPAL CHURCH RECORDS

The Methodists established themselves in Hampton during 1835 and converted a small house into a meeting house in 1837. During those two years, meetings were occasional. A church was built in 1848 and moved to its present location on Lafayette Road in 1881.

The earliest membership records begin in 1839 and random notations of the deaths of these members, added at a later time, provide the first vital records. Regular baptismal and marriage records begin in the 1880s.

The arrangement of the records given here presented a problem in reproducing them exactly as they appear, for they are all recorded folio style on two pages of the books, going from the page on the left across to the page on the right, in columns on pre-printed forms.

We gratefully acknowledge the assistance of Mary Ann Jewell in acquiring access to these records and allowing them to be transcribed.

INTRODUCTION TO HAMPTON CEMETERY RECORDS

Hampton has a total of ten cemeteries at the present time, only one of which is still being used for interments. High Street Cemetery, currently used, contains the remains of some people who were re-interred there after the cemetery was established. Besides the ten existing cemeteries, there was a small one containing only three interments, known as the Batchelder Lot, which is now gone. There is also an ancient burial vault in the woods off Woodland Road, where the bodies of several children in the Lane family who died of smallpox were buried. There are no inscriptions of any kind according to the property owners and descendants of the Lane family. Some years ago the vault was entered by vandals, and bones were scattered. The bones were returned to the vault by town employees, and the vault was permanently sealed.

The transcriptions found on the following pages were commenced in 1985 and last proofread in 1998. In the interim we discovered that some stones had deteriorated or even disappeared. Several dozen have been knocked over and now lie face-down. We were very fortunate in our readings of hand-lettered fieldstones. By using sunlight reflected at various angles across the inscriptions, we were able to read many stones never before transcribed. Through comparison with town, church, and private records, we have also been able to identify a large percentage of the fieldstones marked only with initials and years.

The accompanying maps provide rough approximations of gravestone locations. Numbers were assigned in the order in which we encountered the stones, and may imply rows where none actually exist. The oldest cemeteries were not organized into lots and only vaguely into rows.

When in doubt about the age of a stone with no date, or of a fragment without a date, we included it with appropriate comment. Many stones featured verses of varying lengths. These have been indicated where they exist, but not copied. If the verses offered evidence of family relationships, those relationships are given. Military flags and markers are noted, as are Masonic emblems. Generally, fragments not embedded in the ground have not been listed unless they contained legible markings. Even elaborate footstones appear under their respective headstones, and are only numbered separately if the headstone is missing, or cannot be definitely identified.

We are indebted to the courtesy of the property owners whose lands surround five of the cemeteries, for access to transcribe the stones. We gratefully acknowledge the assistance of Danny Kenney at the Hampton cemetery department for allowing us to transcribe broken stones in the storage area at High Street Cemetery and to examine cemetery records at the department office gathered by the late Roland W. Paige.

We made every effort to locate all Hampton cemeteries. It is possible that there were some small family cemeteries and single graves which have been lost. We have not included, for lack of an inscription, the ancient stone with three crosses roughly incised standing near the road at Boar's Head. This stone is supposed to have marked the grave of Thorvald Ericsson who, according to the Icelandic sagas, sailed along the coast of northern New England in the year 1004 A.D. He and his crew made a landing, it is said, but he was shot and killed by a poisoned arrow fired by a year-round resident. Thorvald (or Thorwald) is said to have been a brother of the legendary Lief Ericsson.

Given the extent of the damage in the years between our initial and final efforts, we resolved to compare all available transcriptions to our work to make the most complete record possible. The following published and manuscript records were used to annotate our readings:

2. Joseph Dow, History of the Town of Hampton, New Hampshire. From its settlement in 1638, to the autumn of 1892 [Salem, Mass.: Salem Press, 1893].
3. Gravestone Inscriptions Gathered by the Old Burial Grounds Committee of the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of New Hampshire, Mrs. Josiah Carpenter, comp. [Cambridge, Mass.: Riverside Press, 1913] (Pine Grove Cemetery).
6. Elkins, Batchelder, Batchelder Lot, Shaw, Bride Hill, Landing Burial Ground, "Ye Old Neighborhood," and Sanborn Yard cemeteries, manuscript transcription made in 1937 and 1938 by Mrs. Wendell B. Folsom, copy at New Hampshire Historical Society library, Concord, N.H.
7. Colonial Gravestone Inscriptions in the State of New Hampshire, Mrs. Charles Carpenter Goss, comp., Historic Activities Committee of The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America in The State of New Hampshire from Collections made by Committees from 1913 to 1942 [Dover, N.H.: 1942].
10. Typescript transcription of nine cemeteries (High Street was not included) prepared in 1987 by William H. Teschek of Lane Memorial Library in Hampton. Mr. Teschek generously made his work available to us. Copies of Mr. Teschek's work are at Lane Memorial library and at the New Hampshire Historical Society Library in Concord.

With the exception of High Street Cemetery, all inscribed stones are included here, even if they bear dates after the end of the year 1900.

INTRODUCTION TO PINE GROVE CEMETERY

Pine Grove Cemetery, so named in the early part of this century, and formerly called the Old Burying Ground, was originally located at the end of Meetinghouse Green near the center of Hampton. The town has grown in other directions, leaving this pleasant ancient cemetery surrounded by a low rock wall in a residential section somewhat east of the old town center. It is located on Winnacunnet Road near the current center of town.

Provision for the first public cemetery in Hampton must predate the 26th of January 1653/4, when the selectmen ordered that a substantial five-rail fence be built around the cemetery's perimeter (Hampton Town Records, 1:83). Yet the oldest surviving inscribed stone, number 88 in our transcription, for Susanna Smith, was not placed there until after 12 June 1680, when she was "slaine with thunder" (Hampton Vital Records, 2:427). In 1894, when Joseph Dow published his History of Hampton, her stone had been missing for several years, but it had reappeared by 1985 when we made this transcription.

In 1857, D.W. Holmes published a partial transcription of this cemetery entitled "Inscriptions from Hampton, N.H.," in The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 11:77-79. Another, very partial transcription appeared in print in 1913 in a little book sponsored by the Colonial Dames of New Hampshire. This is quite fortunate, since of the mere 21 inscriptions published, several were of stones not seen in earlier transcriptions and the stones certainly are no longer standing.

In 1894, Joseph Dow stated that "The stones are fast disappearing," and published a tiny fraction of the 223 stones we saw in 1985. He further declared that his published inscriptions were "all that can now be deciphered." Fortunately, with the help of mirror-reflected sunlight, many stones thought unreadable have yielded to careful scrutiny and are included here. Once let out by the town for the pasturing of sheep and calves, Pine Grove and Ring Swamp cemeteries may actually have benefitted by having weeds and bushes continually trimmed in this manner.

Since the aforementioned partial transcriptions were made, over a dozen stones once known to have been placed here have disappeared. In the mid 1980s, following a considerable storm, stone 174, that of Edward[2] Gove, was rediscovered under several inches of turf. There are undoubtably many more just beneath the surface. There are numerous loose fragments of slate gravestones throughout the cemetery, none bearing any inscription, and it is impossible to say whether they are pieces of visible gravestones, or represent stones no longer found. In some cases these fragments have been picked up and leaned against trees; in other cases piles of them have been made, one containing as many as fourteen fragments; and in other cases they lie scattered on the surface of the ground. Still others are found on the stone wall around the cemetery where they have apparently been tossed over the years. Our policy has been to count any stone sticking into the ground, inscribed or not, and any loose stone with an inscription. Loose, uninscribed stones or fragments have not been numbered in the following transcription.

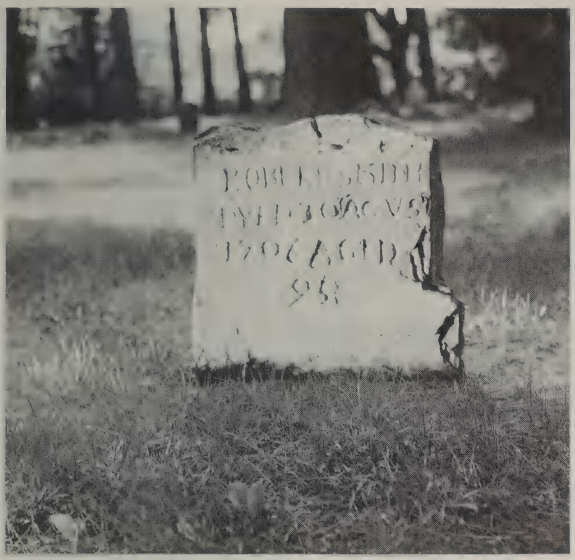
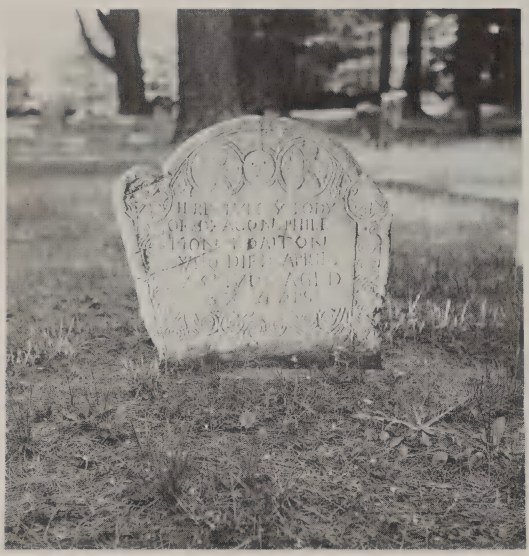
The style and expertise shown by more than 200 years of stone carvers represented in this cemetery run the gamut from rudely scratched initials on fieldstones to the elaborate table tombstone of Rev. Nathaniel Gookin.

The latest inscription in the cemetery is number 73 in these records, that burial apparently made after a long hiatus during which people had presumably turned to Ring Swamp Cemetery for their needs.



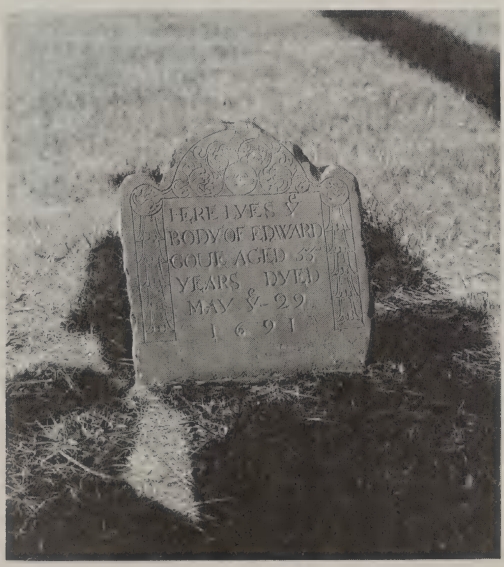
Gravestone of Robert[1] Smith, an early Hampton settler.
See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 89 (p. 315).

Hampton's oldest surviving epitaph is that of Susanna, wife of Robert[1] Smith, who was "slaine with thunder."
See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 88 (p. 315).



Gravestone of Deacon Philemon[3] Dalton showing exceptionally interesting detail. See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 88 (p. 315).

The attractive gravestone of Abigail[3] Gove, successively wife of Deacon Philemon[3] Dalton, Deacon Benjamin[2] Sanborn and Deacon James[2] Prescott, and daughter of Edward[2] Gove. See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 116 (p. 316).



The beguilingly simple gravestone of Edward[2] Gove, Representative to the General Court and prominent town resident, convicted of treason and sentenced to death for leading an unsuccessful rebellion against Governor Edward Cranfield. After serving time in The Tower of London, he returned to Hampton. His gravestone, covered by soil and forgotten for generations, reappeared after a recent storm, and once more shows the final resting place of one of Hampton's most famous residents. See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 174 (p. 321).

The plain but proud marker of Ruth[3] Shaw, mother of Sarah (Shaw) Ward and of Reuben Smith alias Shaw. See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 81 (p. 314).

The hand-lettered marker of Ann[2] Roberts, widow successively of James[2] Philbrick and Captain William[2] Marston, and daughter of Thomas[1] Roberts, prominent settler of Dover. See Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 205 (p. 323).

INTRODUCTION TO LANDING BURIAL GROUND

The Landing Burial Ground originally occupied a high spot of ground surrounded by lower ground and marsh off the old Landing Road. A house was later built beside it, so that the cemetery is now found in an attractive front yard. The owners of the property restored the little burying ground, put up a linked chain around it, and keep it well tended.

The cemetery, with many unmarked stones and a few marked stones going back as far as 1715, was clearly a burying ground for members of the family of Joseph[2] Chase (Thomas[1]), who must have lived nearby.

INTRODUCTION TO SHAW FAMILY CEMETERY

This small cemetery sits on the inside edge of the very busy Hampton traffic circle on Route 1. With stones as early as 1717, it was the burial ground of the family of Benjamin[2] Shaw (Roger[1]) who lived nearby.

In 1942, a quick transcription of seven of the ten stones in this cemetery appeared in a book of Colonial Gravestone Inscriptions in the State of New Hampshire, sponsored by the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of New Hampshire.

INTRODUCTION TO BRIDE HILL CEMETERY

This cemetery is located near the Exeter town line on Bride Hill on the south side of Exeter Road. With stones dating back to 1780, this very old burying ground was used by a number of local families. Numerous graves marked by fieldstones were found, and probably as many more are unmarked in any way.

INTRODUCTION TO RING SWAMP CEMETERY

This cemetery, located on Park Avenue near the Tuck Museum, is the second oldest "public" burying ground in Hampton, laid out by the town in 1797, with stones dating back to 1800.

Between 1985, when we first read the cemetery, and February 1998, when we commenced our final proof-reading, stones 55 and 365 had been smashed to pieces, leaving only a few shards remaining on the ground. This is particularly unfortunate in the case of stone 365, which had been in its proper place in Pine Grove Cemetery as late as 1933 and mysteriously found its way to Ring Swamp before 1985, in time to be vandalized. The footstone for stone 365 remains intact in Pine Grove Cemetery.

Ring Swamp cemetery features numerous poor repairs, most notably stone 311, broken in three pieces, but with the center piece remounted upside down. A large number of the stones in this cemetery are of soft white marble, and the inscriptions are "washing away." Several stones are now broken off at the base and are lying on the ground.

A number of small, hand-lettered stones, have been overlooked in previous transcriptions, but with the help of mirror-reflected light they became legible and are included here for the first time. Once let out by the town for the grazing of sheep and calves, this cemetery may have benefitted by this continual trimming of bushes and weeds.

Two inscriptions in this cemetery are dated after the end of the year 1900, but have been included here for the sake of completeness.

* This headstone was removed by someone between 1933 and 1985 from Pine Grove Cemetery, where it belongs, and placed here in error (see Pine Grove Cemetery, no. 122, and footnote).

Compiler's note: In 1998, stones no. 55 and 365 were found to be completely smashed. Only a few fragments of no. 365 survive, with inscription / DIED JUN / 1742 / YEAR OF, on one of them. No. 55 is completely obliterated.

YE OLD NEIGHBORHOOD CEMETERY / JAMES CEMETERY

The earliest inscription in this walled cemetery is dated 1800, but the cemetery is probably much older than that. Numerous fieldstones mark graves of undetermined age, and the generally primitive and chaotic layout of the burials indicates great aage. Sometimes called the James Cemetery, for a number of more recent burials in the front by members of that family, the other name is more apt. This ancient burial ground appears to have been a community cemetery for the neighborhood, and with Bride Hill, served the residents of the western part of the town. Entrance to the cemetery is over private property, and the cemetery is on the northern side of Exeter Road.

Three of the inscriptions found in this cemetery (see nos. 19, 20 and 21) are also found in the Batchelder Cemetery, and the precise places of burial are unknown. Also, one stone now found in this cemetery (see no. 9) apparently was one of the three stones once found in the Batchelder Lot, which is now gone (see p. 379).

It will be seen that three burials were made after the end of 1900, all of which are included here.

INTRODUCTION TO THE BATCHELDER CEMETERY

Established about 1855 and located in the woods on private property off Mary Batchelder Road, this family cemetery has a granite wall with iron rails and an iron gate, but suffers from neglect. Three of the inscriptions found in this cemetery (see no. 8), are also found in Ye Old Neighborhood Cemetery, and the precise places of burial are unknown.

INTRODUCTION TO THE SANBORN YARD CEMETERY

This family cemetery, established about 1808 for the family of Simon[5] Sanborn (William[4-3], Josiah[2], William[1]) is located on private property off Gale Road in the western part of town. Besides two human interments dating after 1900, included here, the cemetery also has two pet interments, whose graves are marked with gravestones:

INTRODUCTION TO THE BATCHELDER LOT

Mrs. Wendell B. Folsom's notes from 1938 indicate that she found a small cemetery containing three gravestones in a "small walled-in lot on Hampton Road, near or opposite Batchelder places." William H. Teschek says that this cemetery was at one time along Exeter Road [same as Hampton Road, depending on which direction one is headed], a few hundred yards or so west of the junction with Timber Swamp Road, but was moved when road improvements were made. The gravestone for Mary Batchelder may now be found in Ye Old Neighborhood Cemetery (see p. 365), but the whereabouts of the other two is unknown. It is said that the remains of the two deceased were removed to High Street Cemetery, but there is no trace of their gravestones there. Moreover, it seems unlikely that Mary Batchelder would have been re-buried in Ye Old Neighborhood Cemetery if her husband, Sanborn Batchelder, was re-interred somewhere else. Only Mary's stone can now be found.

We are indebted to Mrs. Folsom and Mr. Teschek for preserving the information from the inscriptions.

INTRODUCTION TO THE ELKINS CEMETERY

Established about 1851, the Elkins cemetery is located in the woods at the corner of Liberty Lane and Exeter Road. The families of Jeremiah and Jonathan Elkins used this cemetery five times in the first two years. Four stones are enclosed by an iron fence.

INTRODUCTION TO THE HIGH STREET CEMETERY

The only cemetery in town still being used, High Street Cemetery was established in 1858. The first interment was that of Charlotte Ann Akerman, known as Lottie, who died 31 December 1858, aged 19 years, and was buried there on 3 January 1859. In 1997 a new monument was placed over her grave because the original gravestone is becoming too worn to read (see nos. 486 and 487).

In this cemetery, we have adhered to our stated plan of copying only the records prior to the end of the year 1900. This is a large cemetery, divided by roadways. For purposes of this compilation, we have assigned a letter to each section which contains inscriptions before 1901. Because each section by itself is not terribly large, readers should have little trouble finding a given gravestone.

In this cemetery is located the Hampton cemetery department office and workshed. Broken stones awaiting repair are kept in the shed, and a map of the cemetery is available in the office. However, there are no plot maps or interment records.

Nevertheless, when plots were purchased in the old section, after the cemetery was established, a number was assigned to each plot, and a flat marble marker with the purchaser's name and the plot number inscribed on it was set into the ground in the center of each lot. Many of these have since disappeared or been removed, or have been covered by soil and grass. Occasionally one is found on a plot when there are no other stones on it at all, leaving us to wonder whether anyone was ever interred there or not. We have not copied these flat plot markers, as they are not vital records. However, they would be of interest to family members. Readers should be aware that the numbers given to the plots were assigned in purely chronological order, without regard to which part of the cemetery the plot was in. Consequently, plot no. 2 may be nowhere near plot no. 1, and so on.

We also encountered bases of stones whose inscribed top portions were evidently broken off and are nowhere to be found. It has been impossible in such cases, to know whether the broken bases might have belonged to stones with inscriptions dating prior to 1901.

The most awkward problem we faced in this cemetery was one of our own making. Because we cut off our transcriptions with the end of the year 1900, we ran into numerous situations where one large stone might have the name and death date of a wife prior to 1901 and therefore, a candidate for inclusion in our book, while her husband died after the end of 1900 and who was, consequently, disqualified from being included. The problem arises when the predeceased wife is called "Mary, his wife, died

Oct. 10, 1896, Aet. 70 yrs.," to use a hypothetical example. In such cases we have editorially added in brackets "[wife of John W. Smith]," for example. Otherwise, the transcription would be meaningless and could not be indexed. Similar situations arose when children of a couple died before 1901, but the parents died later. In such cases, the children have been editorially identified.

In most cases, four-sided monuments have been transcribed with the side bearing the family surname at the base coming first.

Many times individual stones dating from after 1900 are found on older plots. We have avoided the temptation to copy those, and no doubt, many clues to family relationships will be found by researchers who take the trouble to visit the lots in question.

Some of the stones found in High Street Cemetery now were moved there in the past when remains of family members who had been buried elsewhere were moved and re-interred in this new cemetery. Consequently some dates will be found that pre-date the establishment of the cemetery.

We also decided not to copy dates of birth when given on the gravestones of people who died after the end of 1900. While those birthdates themselves fall within the scope of our book, transcribing them and not the death dates seemed too awkward. Readers should be aware that the gravestones of many people who died after the end of 1900 contain complete dates of birth before the end of 1900, quite a large number of which would have occurred in Hampton and may not be otherwise recorded.

This cemetery contains examples of the entire cross-section of Hampton's population, from the simple flat marble markers of the town paupers in their own section (see nos. 241-249), to the magnificent monument to the memory of Godfrey Dearborn, immigrant ancestor of the Dearborn family, who was surely buried in Pine Grove Cemetery. How unfortunate that this memorial to Godfrey Dearebarne got his place of origin in England wrong. Based on tradition, the stone spire states that he emigrated from "Exeter England." The late Victor Channing Sanborn showed that Mr. Dearebarne (later Dearborn), had actually come from Hannah cum Hagnaby, Lincolnshire, England (The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, 68 [January 1914]: 68-72). This cemetery also contains the memorials to many of Hampton's Civil War veterans, whose stories of hardship and suffering are as painful to read today as they were over 130 years ago, and here, too, we find the simple, self-effacing monument to the memory of Hampton's greatest historian, Joseph Dow, and his daughter, Lucy E. Dow, who saw her father's splendid history of the town to press following his death.

INTRODUCTION TO PRIVATE RECORDS

Private records in small towns are often the richest source of information on friends and neighbors. These records, which are frequently lists of deaths kept in almanacs or diaries, often lack the restraint of official records, and contain insights which generate vibrant biographical detail.

Hampton, like most early New England towns, has its share of these records. Often graphic in the reporting, they frequently clear up mysteries not explained elsewhere.

For these purposes, private records include ministers' records (often different from the official church records), diaries, privately-kept lists of events occurring in town, family register records, and family Bibles. The compilers have attempted to locate as many such records as possible, and include those held at the Tuck Museum in Hampton, the New England Historic Genealogical Society in Boston, and in private hands.

INTRODUCTION TO THE COMMONPLACE BOOK OF REV. SEABORN COTTON

It is most fortunate that the diary, or commonplace book, of Rev. Seaborn Cotton, Hampton's fourth minister, has survived the ravages of time, albeit without its back cover. Seaborn Cotton died in 1686, but regular entries were made in the book by his son and successor, Rev. John Cotton, until his early demise in 1710, when his son-in-law and successor, Rev. Nathaniel Gookin, continued the tradition. Thus we have a rather complete record of vital events occurring in Hampton during the above-mentioned pastorates, as well as particularly chatty records of vital events within the immediate families of the three ministers.

Presented to the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1882 by Dr. John S.H. Fogg of South Boston, Massachusetts, the frail little book, measuring 2 3/4 by 4 3/4 inches, now resides in the manusucript collection of this Society. A copy of the vital records occurring in the families of Rev. Seaborn Cotton and Rev. John Cotton were communicated by Dr. Fogg to the editor of The New-England Historical and Genealogical Register, where they were published in January, 1879 [Vol. 33, No. 1] and July, 1880 [Vol. 34, No. 3], respectively.

A detailed analysis of the commonplace book's various sections appeared in the Publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts, Volume 32. Transactions, 1933-1937 (Boston: The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, 1937), pages 320-352. A careful listing of the contents of the book and who wrote them appears on pages 324-326. Much comment, supported by extensive excerpts, is offered on the various literary, business and ecclesiastical portions of the book.

With the exception of some of the vital records of members of Seaborn Cotton's own family (already printed in the Register, as above), most of the exceptionally interesting vital records appear here in print for the first time. Readers will observe, in particular, interesting records of marriages by people not residents of Hampton or neighboring towns, as well as Rev. John Cotton's habit of providing names of father and, occasionally the grandfather, of many of the children brought for baptism. These records can be extremely helpful in sorting through generations of the old Hampton families who repeatedly used traditional given names.

DEACON JOSHUA LANE'S RECORD OF DEATHS IN HAMPTON, 1727-1755

The following records of deaths in Hampton were written in a journal kept by Deacon Joshua Lane of Hampton. In 1904 the journal was in the possession of Rev. John W. Lane of North Hadley, Massachusetts, a descendant of Deacon Joshua Lane. The whereabouts of the journal is not now known. These records were published verbatim et literatim in 1904 in volume 58 of The New-England Historical and Genealogical Register in the January and April issues of that year on pages 29-36 and 136-140, respectively, under the title "Deaths in Hampton, N.H., 1727-1755." They are reproduced here with permission, exactly as they appeared in the above-mentioned publication.

A LIST OF DEATHS IN HAMPTON

The following records were in the possession of the late Roland W. Paige of Hampton who allowed William H. Teschek, Assistant Director of Lane Memorial Library in Hampton, to photocopy them. Mr. Teschek kindly made his copy available to the compilers for this volume of Hampton records. Since Mr. Paige's death the original book has disappeared, giving even greater value to Mr. Teschek's photocopy. It will be seen that the records, obviously incomplete for any given year, span a period of 109 years, and they are all recorded in the same handwriting and apparently at the same time on a total of 73 numbered pages. Readers will notice that the person who transcribed the records in Mr. Paige's possession had difficulty deciphering the long, lower case letter "s," often rendering it as a "j" or an "f" (e.g. "Majon" for "Mason," and "Croff" for "Cross." Ditto marks are used for the word "died" after its first use each year, and after the first entry on each page, but in this transcription we have decided to write the word in full. Occasionally ditto marks are used elsewhere under identical words above on the same page, but we have written the words out in full. Obviously, then, the "original" record which Mr. Paige had was not a contemporary, on-going compilation, but must have been made up from a number of original, privately-kept records. The handwriting of Mr. Paige's records would tend to date his copy to the late nineteenth century or early twentieth century. It is not known which family or individuals kept these records. It will also be noticed that there are no records for the years 1838 and 1839, or for the years 1873 and 1874, those years being completely ignored in this compilation.

JOSEPH PHILBRICK'S RECORD OF DEATHS

The following privately-kept records of deaths and other useful information are recorded in two separate places. The first record, originally kept by Joseph Philbrick in Hampton, covers the years 1769-1813, but is obviously not complete. A number of substantial gaps appear. The existing record is apparently a copy, all in one hand and ink, made by Mr. Philbrick's son, Simon, at a later date. The handwriting and peculiarities of spelling are his. The records appear in a little booklet, 6" x 8", hand made for this purpose. It consists of death records exclusively.

The second record is found in an ancient hand-made record book in which, on the inside back cover, is written: "Simon Philbrooks/Record Book/Hampton/Aprill 1 Day/1804." The book consists of three distinct parts, written in brown ink on pages of varying dimensions. The first section is Simon Philbrick's account book containing entries made in 1808, showing that he sold much fish that year. The second section, comprising most of the book, is a diary of more than usual interest, running from 22 January 1808 to 13 June 1843, kept by Simon Philbrick. Within the diary, in the form of an unrelated intrusion, are ten pages of death records kept by Simon Philbrick from 13 April 1806 until 21 March 1844, first in Hampton where he lived, and then, from 10 June 1812 onward, in Wakefield, New Hampshire, to which place Mr. Philbrick had removed. References to deaths in Hampton are made after his removal as well, so the entire record has been reproduced here. Readers will also notice references to deaths in Ossipee, Tamworth, Effingham and other places in New Hampshire, and also deaths in Parsonsfield and Limerick, Maine, as well as deaths elsewhere. Of particular interest are the deaths of New Hampshire fishermen on the coast of Labrador and in other places, the details of whose demise might otherwise not be known with such precision.

The diary itself has frequent references to items of especial genealogical relevance besides vital events, such as dates of removal, house and barn fires, ill people, natural disasters, and the like.

The compilers wish to thank Mr. Robert Bayard Severy of Weymouth, Massachusetts, owner of these splendid manuscripts, for so generously offering them to us for reproduction in this manner. A photostatic copy in color of a portion of these original records was presented by Mr. Severy to the New England Historic Genealogical Society on 11 October 1977, where it may be found inaccurately described "Joseph Philbrick Hampton, N.H. Deaths 1769-1827."

Several additional pages which followed the final entries have been carefully excised from the original book, and are now presumed to be lost.

WARD LANE'S RECORD OF BIRTHS

The list below is a copy of a record of births in Hampton kept by Ward Lane, a shoemaker of the town. He gave the original record to John M. Towle, and somehow the record traveled to Detroit, Michigan, and was eventually given to the Detroit Public Library. That library, in 1960, presented it to the New England Historic Genealogical Society in Boston, Massachusetts, where it more appropriately resides in the manuscript collection. The record is copied verbatim et literatim here. The reader's attention is called to Mr. Lane's use of the abbreviation "Du." for the word "daughter." The records refer to children of the men named, rather than to the men themselves, in accordance with the custom of the time.

INTRODUCTION TO BIBLES

The following family Bible records all come from Bibles in the possession of the Tuck Museum in Hampton. It is presumed that all belonged to families resident at one time or another in Hampton, but all events recorded did not necessarily occur in the town. A conscious decision was made by the compilers to include all items recorded in the Bibles, whether they occurred after 1900 or not, as it seems important in preserving the integrity of the original sources to include all the information given.

We are certain that other Hampton Bibles exist, but it has not been possible to discover them all. People who possess such valuable records should plan to deposit them - or photocopies of them and their title pages - in a public repository to ensure that the information contained therein is not lost.

BATCHELDER BIBLE

The New Testament of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, translated out of The Original Greek: and with the former Translations Diligently Compared and Revised. (New York, N.Y.: American Bible Society, 1850) 447 & 113 pp.

This book belonged to Warren Woodbury Batchelder Born June 3, 1840, Died January 15. 1856, Hampton, N.H. Oldest son of Nathaniel and Sarah Ann Batchelder.

The following ancient family records concerning a branch of the family of Robert[1] Page of Hampton have been carefully preserved in the family of Mrs. Oscar Hugh Kirkpatrick for generations. One record was written by James Page in 1807 when he was 71 years old; the second record was written by the same man in 1816 when he was was 80. A few additional records after 1816, in another hand, are added to the second version. The second of the two family records is in a hand-made booklet covered with a newspaper carrying the legal notice of the administration of the estate of John Odlin Page, dated 10 October 1815.

To ensure the preservation of the first record, it was donated to the New England Historic Genealogical Society and is part of the manuscript collection there. While some of the dates and information contained in both these old records are now known to be slightly in error, they are reproduced here exactly as written by James Page in order to maintain their complete integrity. There are, on the other hand, items of information in these records which can be found nowhere else. A transcription of the first of these two records appeared in the April/July 1992 issue of The New Hampshire Genealogical Record.

It will be seen that James Page referred to the immigrant ancestor, whose name he did not know, as "father" in places, and even invents a name, "David," in others. When he speaks of his grandfather and grandmother, however, James Page is talking about Stephen[3] and Mary (Rollins) Page. One of these records gives Stephen Page's death as occurring in February, 1712, while the other states February, 1713. The year should be 1713/4. However, the date of death of Mary (Rollins) Page is otherwise unknown. The second record, on page 560, adds a fictional second Stephen in James Page's patrilinear line.

The compilers wish to thank Oscar and Ann Kirkpatrick for their generosity in sharing these records with us, and for their far-sightedness in making these records available to others in a permanent printed form.
